Soviet Delegate Submits 2-Step Nuclear Offer Asks Ban, Promise To Renounce Use Of Atomic Weapons

GENEVA (AP) — Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin proposed today that a treaty banning nuclear weapons tests be linked to a promise from world powers to renounce possession and use of atomic and hydrogen weapons. He told the 10-nation disarmament conference these two steps should be taken in advance of a general disarmament treaty. Act of Confidence

If this approach is accepted, Zorin said, it will open the way to solution of the nuclear problem as a whole and represent "an important act of confidence."

The Western powers described Zorin's move as an attempt to commit them to a moral obligation which cannot be enforced.

Zorin made his proposal only a few hours before the United States and Britain planned to challenge the Soviet Union promptly to conclude an enforceable test ban treaty.

The plan, worked out by President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was to be introduced at the resumption this afternoon of the three-power test ban conference. The conference recessed last week to await results of the Eisenhower-Macmillan meeting at Camp David, Md.

Calls For Control System

The Western plan calls for a detailed system of international controls to be worked out before a test ban treaty is signed. In the 17 months delegates of the three nations have been meeting here, considerable progress has been made on a control organization, although major points of disagreement remain.

There was no official Soviet reaction to the American proposal in advance of its presentation to the conference. But the Russian delegation's chief scientific adviser gave what could be an indication that the Russians would continue to demand immediate agreement on a ban, with controls to be worked out later.

In a statement to the Soviet news agency Tass, Fyodorov urged the United States to agree at once to a treaty so that control methods could be developed by practical experience.

"The practical realization of a control system and the experience of this work will be of much greater use for improving the methods of detecting banned

Only Part of City Workers Receive Pay

Payday came to City Hall today—that is all for all but 12 elective and six appointive offices.

Eighteen were not paid because of insufficient monies in the general fund and street fund.

Mrs. Helen Coyne, city auditor and one of those who was not paid, announced earlier this week that the "payless payday" would almost surely occur if a final settlement of real estate taxes was not received from the county by today.

She said the settlement, expected to be in the neighborhood of $15,000, did not arrive and that she has received no word on when it is to get here.

Besides Mrs. Coyne, those who were not paid are Mayor Dean Cranmer, Solicitor James D. Primm, Treasurer James Criswell, all eight councilmen, Council Clerk Charles Alexander, Solicitor's clerk Juanita Breatnall and the three members of the Civil Service Commission and clerk.

Police and firemen and department workers, such as water and service, received their checks.

Today's Last Day To Buy Auto Tags

The last day for obtaining 1960 auto license tags is here.

Tomorrow motorists caught by police without the proper tags will be subject to arrest and fine.

Licenses are available at the Automobile Club at the Village Green.

Civilian Victim In Little Rock

Bomber Explodes; Four Persons Die

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A six-engine jet bomber exploded over Little Rock today, showering flaming wreckage and death in its plunge near the state Capitol.

An Air Force spokesman reported three crewmen were killed. At least one civilian man died in a house fire touched off by debris. A woman was reported trapped in her burning home.

Parachuted to Safety
One airman parachuted to safety but was burned seriously.

The B-47 jet was on an early morning mission from Little Rock Air Force Base, a Strategic Air Command installation.

Reports persisted that the jet collided with a light plane over

Three Die as Air Force Tanker Plane Ditches

PATRICK AIR FORCE BASE, picked out of moderately calm seas, was brought to this base by helicopter in good condition. Surface craft, drawn to the scene by the flares and flashlights of the survivors, picked up the others.

The destroyer Sullivans was the first surface craft to reach Port Canaveral. She carried one dead man and five survivors. Three of the latter were in shock and another appeared to be badly burned. The fifth was bruised and dazed.

Survivors picked up by the Sullivans were Sgt. Luis E. Ramirez, Maj. Walter C. Birge Jr., Lt. Richard M. Weinberg, Sgt. Charles J. Hefner, and Lt. Col. George C. Jernigan Jr.

A Coast Guard cutter has three survivors and two dead men. The tanker Sherman Clark has the other two survivors.

The KC-97 Stratotanker, en route from Newfoundland to its home station, MacDill Air Force Base in Tampa, Fla., reportedly was ditched with only its No. 1 and No. 4 engines operating.

The tanker plane hit the sea about 8:30 p. m. after radioing it was preparing to ditch, reportedly because of engine trouble.

Rescue pilots reported that wreckage of the ditched four-engine plane still was afloat.

The rescue craft continued crisscrossing the area through the night, searching for other survivors.

Newsmen were not allowed to interview Rogers when he was helped out of a helicopter at Patrick and put to bed at the base hospital. Officers said he was too tired to talk.

Cmdr. Donald M. Reed, executive officer of the St. Petersburg Coast Guard Air Station, said Rogers "didn't say a word" when he was hauled into Reed's plane on a sling lowered to the ocean surface.

"He was very tired," Reed said.

Reed said "we saw this man Rogers hanging onto a piece of wreckage, and hoisted over him. We lowered a hoist with a sling on it, and he was able to get in."

"We saw at least two groups of four or five men in the water. When we reached the ditching area some of them were waving flashlights. We directed the two surface ships to the men we sighted.

"Most of the plane's forward end and wings appeared intact. We couldn't see a tail."

Keep Dogs Penned, Mayor Asks Owners

Mayor Dean Cranmer today urged that all dog owners keep their dogs tied or keep them confined to the owner's property, especially during the spring weather when the laws are soft.

He said he has received dozens of complaints of dogs digging in lawns and making a general nuisance of themselves.

After the meeting the board continued a discussion of a salary policy — something apart from salary schedules — which, among other things, will set standards for recognizing by increased pay the longevity of teachers with many years' service, and the advances made by teachers striving to improve their academic experience.

South African Troops Seal Off Negro Areas

Senate Near Showdown on Rights Rider

Issue Left Dangling; Other Amendments Okayed Yesterday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate moved toward a showdown today on the kind of proceedings to require for Negroes seeking to register before court-appointed voting registrars.

A House-passed bill provides for simple, uncontested hearings. The Senate Judiciary Committee adopted 7-6 an amendment to require two days advance notice of the hearings and permit county and state registrars to sit in. There was a dispute over whether they could actively participate.

Outcome Could Be Crucial

Opponents of the committee amendment said the outcome could be crucial to the effectiveness of the plan for court-appointed referees to protect Negro voting rights.

The issue was left dangling Wednesday night after the Senate, in a surprise burst of speed, took up the House measure and adopted all the other amendments recommended by the committee.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D-N.C.) said this didn't signal any collapse of the fight he and other Southern senators have been waging against the passage of civil rights legislation.

Commonwealth Can Use It

'Big Slam' Brings New Wealth to Puerto Rico

By OSCAR L. MORRIS

(Second of Two Articles)
Operation BIG SLAM dumped a chunk of new wealth on Puerto Rico, and the Commonwealth can use it.

Puerto Rico is a contrast of wealth and poverty. Until a few years ago sugar cane was the main crop. Now there's a booming tourist trade, with luxurious hotels.

The island actively is seeking industry under a government-sponsored plan. And industry is beginning to build a stronger middle class in Puerto Rico as workers leave the cane fields for factories and better pay.

THERE ARE TWO San Juans—the capital city, the old and historic city of slums, and the section with beautiful touches of Spanish architecture.

Souvenir shops are competing for business. Bars are open until the last customer goes home. The new hotels are in the brand new section of San Juan, things of beauty, with lobby and dining rooms open to the air.

They are on broad streets, as contrasted with the narrow streets "Shine," "A quarter" and "Thank You." But they do give a good

But the taxi driver takes the streets, wide or narrow, with abandon. As a matter of course the speedometers are disconnected. The taxis seem to have two speeds—a steady 50 miles an hour in traffic or out of it, and a sudden death.

And there's a constant beep-beep of the horn.

WE ASKED the driver about the horn. He blew for intersections. He blew for other cars. He blew to clear a path. He blew to pass. And then he blew in the middle of the block, on a virtually traffic-free street.

But he waved a hand as though making a left turn and pointed, "My girl lives there."

PUERTO RICANS are intensely interested in politics. There are three parties—the Government party headed by Gov. Luis Munoz Marin, the Stateholders and the Independents. Mixed into them are the Republicans and Democrats.

The steady use of planes and pulling them from flight to flight as needed while crews rested was watched closely by Army and Air Force officials and Defense Department observers.

They call the operation a huge success, but urge that a program to modernize MATS with new and better planes should be started at once.

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

Some of the boys rallied 'round the flag a few Saturdays ago and beat back their left-wing enemies. Just because the battle of the flag was heard only in the Owl's Home Hall in Little Emmaus, Pa. (p. o. p. 7,780) is no reason for it to lose its place in history.

Emmaus isn't the Valley Forge but the issue is the same. And let those who think this flag waving make the most of it.

It all began early on the afternoon of Saturday, Feb. 20, in the Owl's Home Hall to which the pro-Soviet line United Electrical Workers Union (UE) had summoned its people from that section of Pennsylvania and New Jersey and Maryland to a mass rally.

The meeting was called in support of the UE's drive to take the plants of Air Products, Inc. from the union which had the corporation under contract. This latter union is the AFL-CIO International Assn. of Machinists (IAM).

For four peaceful and prosperous years — for management and labor — the IAM has represented the workers in the corporation's plants in Emmaus, Allentown and Trexlertown.

Now, on the insistence of the UE, which more than once had some of its important leaders accused by congressional witnesses of being Communists, there was to be an election in these plants.

THE DATE was set for Feb. 25. The UE then rented the Owl's Home Hall for a razzle-dazzle windup campaign to convince the workers to vote them in.

About 200 folk attended the "monster" rally. Of this outpouring, 15 were members of the rival IAM. With the multitude assembled, the left-wing chairman took the platform. He opened the meeting — or at least he thought he did.

But one of the crowd was a machinist who was a comparative new citizen. His name is Robert (Frenchy) Merbah. He had come from France.

There, during the big war, Frenchy had been an underground fighter against the Nazis. They had beaten him and left him for dead. He liked his freedom here.

He admired the flag under which he now lived and to which he had sworn allegiance. He got up. He asked the chairman why the meet-

Dark Cloud In a Silver Lining

The consensus among the economic soothsayers seems to be running in favor of changing BOOM to boom for 1960—and they are blaming March.

It proved to be the dark cloud in a silver lining. Everything had been shaping up for a record-breaking year in all respects. Then came the storms.

People potentially in the market for everything from atomizers to xylophones began to battle the weather. They shovelled, snarled and suffered—and while they were doing these things they were not buying appliances, automobiles and clothes.

Think of the seed and nursery business, as an example. On the last Saturday of March this year, a day when customers ordinarily would be fighting one another to buy the first round of seeds for early planting, a typical seed store had two customers in sight. The proprietor estimated the weather-had cost $10,000 in turnover. Some of it, he conceded, would be made up in April and May. But some of it would be lost forever.

It may have taken all the extra power out of the 1960 BOOM. The prospect now is for a boom of modest proportions. Auto output is below first quarter goals. The supply of unsold cars is over a million for the first time in history. The pipelines of supply are full everywhere.

There is nothing wrong that a few weeks of normal temperature can't repair. But the fact is, a month of below-normal activity has slipped away, never to be lived again. In the zany economics of our time, anything below the highest expectation is enough to change a BOOM to a plain, ordinary boom.

No Sin to Talk About Money

The touchiest issue in Washington at the moment is health insurance for the aged. Pro and con mail is flooding Congress. Rumors are hinting of hard feelings in the Eisenhower administration over the issue. Vice President Nixon is believed to be at odds with President Eisenhower, who has given go-slow orders on the whole proposition.

The issue has been joined over the Forand bill in the House. Its author Rep. Aime Joseph Forand, a Democrat from Rhode Island, has become the most widely publicized House member, thanks to attacks on him by opponents of his proposal and statements of support by his friends.

The Forand bill would provide care for over-65 citizens on social security pensions in nursing homes and hospitals. To pay for the care, the old age and survivors insurance tax would be raised on both employers and employees—another of 1 per cent this time.

In general, the pros are retired persons, labor unions, the elderly and the ill. The cons are businessmen, the American Medical Assn. and its members, insurance companies and people who object to the Forand proposal as socialization, an unsound financial proposal and an unwarranted tax on the many for the benefit of the few.

What makes the issue difficult is the fact it is over a matter of money, though it is discussed as a matter of compassion. No one in 1960 is indifferent to suffering and hardship. But prudence is still a virtue. It is not.

Rep. Forand, himself, does not have the a sin to talk about money. A closed mind that some of his newly acquired friends have developed. His aim is to help people in distress, not to ram his proposal down anyone's throat. "If anyone has a better solution on medical care to the aged than I have," he told The New York Times recently, "let them come up with it."

Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of health, education and welfare in the Eisenhower administration, has said in a public hearing the administrator has no fixed ideas so far about solving the problem. The problem exists. No one denies that.

The issue is how to develop a solution—whether it could be another addition to the social security tax—another massive federal undertaking—or whether it could be some combination of public and private enterprise that would hold the government's role to a minimum and get rid of the politics in medicine bogey.

If the issue gets into the presidential campaign, as it well may, the showdown will be on what it has been so many times before—prudence vs. profligacy, private control vs. public control.

Excuse Us While We Shudder

The Department of Defense is said to have made up its mind that 16-foot bridge clearances are the minimum it needs on the new interstate highway system.

This could mean that hundreds of bridges already built are too low and that hundreds already designed might have to be done over, because for a long time 14 feet was supposed to be enough clearance. Defense says now that it needs at least 16 for its missiles while they are being carried by truck. It is saying in as mild a way as it can that all interstate highway bridges must have 16-foot clearances or no cigar.

Excuse us while we shudder. Here is government at its worst if things work out the way they usually do. The damage must be undone. It would never do to make missiles thinner or to figure out some way to get them through lower bridge clearances without digging away the pavement beneath or jacking up the bridge work above.

Nor would it do to say this has turned out to be one of those things that will take some thought because it makes no sense to change hundreds of bridges while there's a possibility the changing might be in vain. Just about the time all clearances had been made to 16 feet, it could happen that all missiles would be slimmer and there would have been a monumental waste of money and effort.

Excuse us while we shudder. When government gets into a mess like this, no good can come of it. Some of those bridges are right here in Ohio. We thought 15 feet would be safer than 14 feet, but that was still too conservative. The Defense Department now says 16, and what guarantee is there that it won't say 17 a few years from now?

Problems of the Aged

The problems of the aged will be the target of a study soon to be made by trustees and staff members of the Salem Central Clinic & Hospital and a group of interested citizens. It will be done strictly on the local level.

In these days when older people are living longer, the problems of the aging population are many. Any study is bound to be beneficial and particularly when the problems close at hand are to be viewed objectively. The Clinic's medical and administrative staff feels that it has a public responsibility in undertaking such a program.

Such an attitude deserves commendation.

Russian Visitors Tell Lies About U.S.

What's the use of having a cultural exchange program and exchanges of visits with the Russians if they merely go back home and tell their newspapers untruths about the United States?

And, what's worse, press services, which used to try at least to get the other side of the same story, have neglected to do so and the untruths often get reprinted inside the United States and other countries with ou rebul.

Thus, for example, Premier Polansky of the "Russian Republic," who toured the United States recently for three weeks with a group of other premiers of Soviet "republics," has just written in "Pravda," a Communist newspaper, that "only the children of the wealthy go to college" in America.

A press dispatch from Moscow to the last few days reports him as writing that, although universities in the United States are well-equipped, most of them are doused in private and students have to pay $700 to $1,200 tuition yearly.

He adds: "This fits the pocket only of wealthy parents."

If the visiting Russian officials had taken the time to get facts which were readily available to them, they would have found that, according to figures from the U.S. Department of Education, approximately 60 per cent of the students in America are enrolled in state or city universities and colleges. Also out of the total enrollment, even in private colleges, at least a fourth are in institutions which are church-supported.

THE RUSSIANS would also have learned that the tuition in the public institutions—state and city universities and colleges—averages only $168 per year, and that the average for private colleges is about $615 per year.

Also, if the Russians had taken the time to inquire, they would have discovered that, even in the private institutions of all kinds, a large number of students work their way through college.

Thus, at Harvard, Yale and Princeton the students working their way or receiving outside aid in the form of scholarships or loans repayable later in life total close to 40 per cent of the enrollment and this has ranged between 35 and 40 per cent for the last 10 years.

Indeed, when the United States government, through the "GI bill of rights," was aiding college students, the percentage in the private colleges receiving aid rose to 55 per cent.

The only thing that Americans can do is to expose such twisting of the truth not only to the people in this country but to listeners and readers all over the world.

Note of Gratitude

By TRUMAN TWILL

Things are humming in merrie England's Department of Royal Nuptials.

That very special breed of Englishmen who make careers of knowing how to do the traditional are chewing pencils and bustling about like displaced mother hens.

Aside from feeling sorry for the personable young photographer who is going to give up his career of shutter-snapping, some of us who have been around longer than he and his intended are wondering about the thank-you notes.

These are the chatty missives that the bride writes out in long-hand after the wedding, when she and her mother and the new man around the house have catalogued the loot.

"Dear Mr. and Mrs. Dohner," says the note. "Tony and I want to thank you for the sweet little brown jug. It is sitting on the mantel, which just seems to have been made for something exactly like it."

"We are not entirely settled yet. There are many things still to do, but one of the first things we thought of when we moved into this place was that dear little jug. It is so unusual and in such wonderful taste."

"We want you to come by to see us the next time you are near—and to admire your sweet little brown jug."

The note is signed with the bride's brand new name, which she has been practicing since two months before the wedding. It is on monogrammed paper, small size, and written with obvious care and precision. This is the new wife's first critical test.

At the going rate, nominal wedding presents these days come at about $15 minimum. Notes of gratitude and wedding invitations, including postage, probably checkout at two bits maximum. It is hard to beat that kind of profit spread.

But will Princess Margaret have to rip off thousands of these notes after she and her young man get settled early next summer?

"Excellency: Tony and I do so want to thank you and Mrs. Excellency for the set of teakwood elephants, life-size, which you sent up."

Barbs

Troubles that people have to a lot of conversation that all of us would rather not hear.

What's the use of having a cultural exchange program and exchanges of visits with the Russians if they merely go back home and tell their newspapers untruths about the United States?

A Reuters dispatch quotes an article in the Soviet government's newspaper "Izvestia" declaring that the Russians will surpass America in 15 years in capacity to generate electricity. The newspaper concedes that Russia has only about a third of the electric power capacity of this country today and then goes on to assume that the United States will stand still in the next 15 years while Russia catches up.

American power experts who visited the Soviet Union in 1958 and 1959 reported a study prepared for the Joint Economic Committee of Congress recently as follows:

"We were told that Russia plans to install 60 million additional kilowatts by the end of 1965, which would bring the U.S.S.R.'s total capacity to more than 108 million kilowatts."

"By comparison, we have under construction in American 51 million kilowatts of new capacity for the four years ending in 1961."

The report further says that the new capacity which the United States will install by 1965 will make America's total 256 million kilowatts or 2½ times the Soviet Union's total capacity in that same year.

IT IS AN OLD TRICK of the Communists to issue misleading statistics. If, for instance, the Soviet Union—which, except for a few cities, is a country of darkness and has today only a small percentage of lighted homes—should in 10 years double the number of illuminated dwellings, these still would be relatively few as contrasted with the United States. But the Soviets would boast of a "100 per cent increase" and compare it with an increase of a few percentage points a year in this country.

Some of these boasts are believed in this country. A letter the other day from a reader pointed out that he had read that the Soviet railroads carry more freight than American railroads do. Yet Soviet mileage is only 76,432 compared to American mileage of 218,399.

The fact is the highways are so poor or non-existent in many sections of the Soviet Union that the railroads have to carry most of the freight, whereas in America transportation for freight is available now by air and by truck as well as by train.

The Soviets keep spreading misinformation about America over the air waves and seem to have no scruples about telling untruths. It is most unfortunate, however, that the so-called "cultural exchange program" is being used to send official visitors here from the Soviet Union who go back home and tell their people untruths about the United States.

The only thing that Americans can do is to expose such twisting of the truth not only to the people in this country but to listeners and readers all over the world.

The Doctor Says

By HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN, M.D.

Maxims Reflect Osler's Greatness

Several readers have asked me to tell them something of the medical careers of Sir William Osler and Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes to whom I have made occasional reference.

Sir William was born just over 100 years ago in Weston, a few miles west of Toronto. He was educated in Canada at Trinity College School and McGill University where he received his MD in 1872.

After a few years of European study, he became professor of medicine at McGill. After 10 years he was called to the University of Pennsylvania where he served for five years before he joined with Dr. William Welch and his colleagues to found the Johns Hopkins School of Medicine in Baltimore.

WITH HOPKINS well established, Dr. Osler accepted the chair of regius professor of medicine at Oxford where he remained until his death on Dec. 29, 1919. He was created a baronet in 1911 for his many services to the British Empire.

One of his pupils, the late Harvey Cushing, has published a detailed life of this greatest of modern physicians. These two volumes, available from the Oxford Press, provide the best introduction to the practice of medicine that any student could conceivably desire.

FOR PRESENT purposes, it is not possible to do more than sample Sir William's wisdom. The following epigrams are taken from the book of "Osler Aphorism," collected by Drs. Robert and William Bennett Bean published by Henry Schuman, Inc., New York:

Medicine is a science of uncertainty and an art of probability. The art of the practice of medicine is to be learned only by experience. Learn to see, hear, feel, smell and know that by practice alone can you become expert.

'Shepherd' Is Theme For Fellowship

"The Lord is My Shepherd" was the program theme at the recent meeting of the Christian Women's Fellowship. Eighty-five members and guests were present for the meeting in the First Christian Church.

Mrs. Roth introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. E. H. Parham of Youngstown. She opened her talk, "God's Gardens and Gardeners" with a short prayer. She explained that the first garden was the Garden of Eden with Adam and Eve the gardeners. "Our life is like a garden, with God the master gardener of our souls. He has a plan for the soul garden and we decide whether we have weeds or use the talents God has given us," she said.

For our gardens he has given us elements for the soul garden, love, hope, patience, faith, friendships, prayer and understanding. If we use these elements right, we will have a good garden. If we decide to have a few weeds we might have selfishness, jealousy, criticism and gossip, Mrs. Parham added. We will have a full and busy life if we cultivate our gardens wisely, she concluded.

The meeting was closed with the CWF benediction.

Savings Bond Sales Increase In County

Ohio sales of Series E and H

Savings Bonds in February were just under $27 million for a 5 per cent gain over February, 1959.

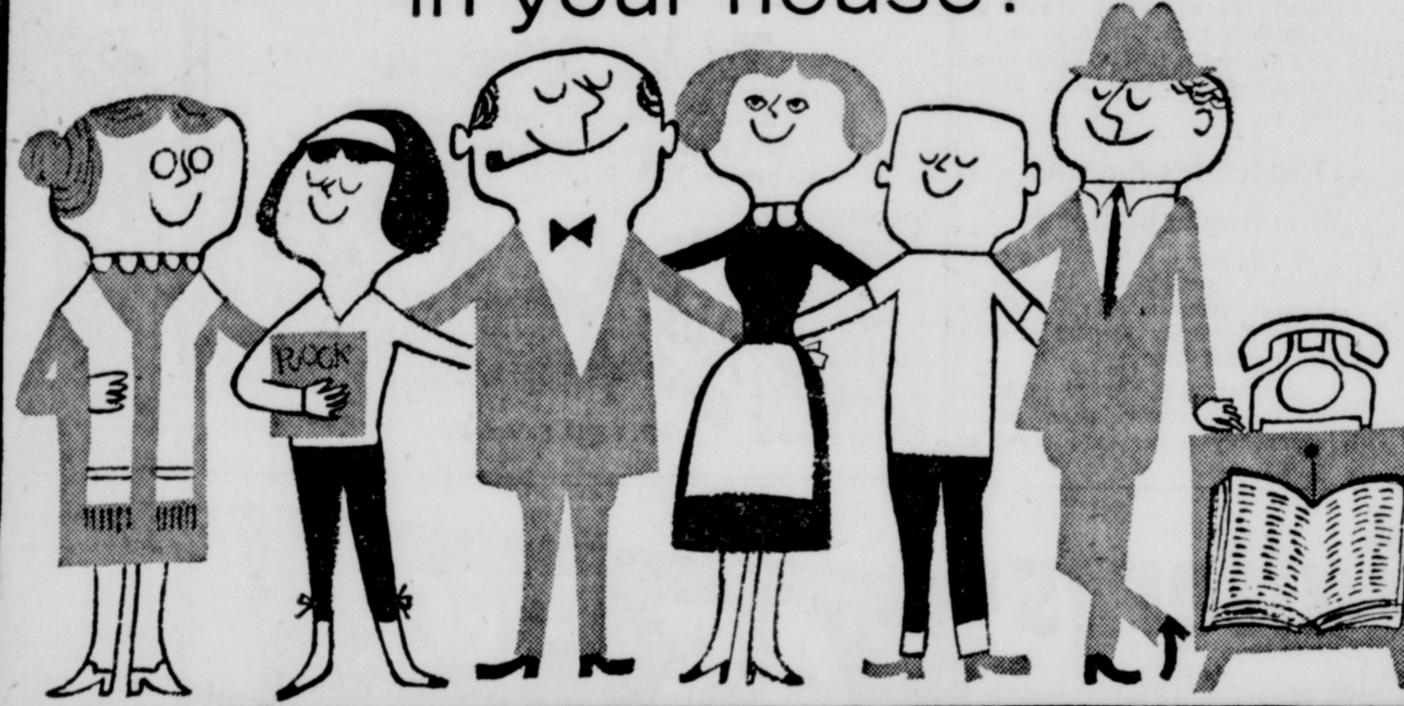

February sales in Columbiana County totalled $257,621 as compared to sales of $197,510 for February a year ago.

Treasury Representative Keith

increase in sales is a reflection of the new, improved rates on Series E Bonds. "Now that the popular Series E Bond pays 3 1/4 per cent in just 7 years and 9 months the people of Ohio have stepped up the tempo of their bond purchases. For the first time in months we find four industrial counties: Mahoning, Montgomery, Franklin and Lucas, ahead of their expected sales quota."

Man Facing Prison Term Wed In Jail

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The bride, like most, was nervous as she twisted a glove in her hand. The groom was a bit pale but was calm and smiling.

The couple seemed oblivious to their surroundings.

The setting for Wednesday's wedding was a vestibule in the Montgomery County jail.

The groom was Earl Hensley, 25, of Dayton, sentenced to Ohio Penitentiary for 1-20 years for the fatal Christmas Day, 1959, shooting of a Chester T. Reading, 22, in the apartment of Miss Orpha Lou Combs, 23, the bride.

The groom also faces the remainder of a 10-25 year sentence for armed robbery in 1952. He was on parole at the time of the shooting.

The couple obtained a court order for permission to marry and a municipal judge performed the ceremony.

As jailers led Hensley back to his cell he looked at his bride and said simply: "I'll see ya." She plans to live with his parents.

Deaths and Funerals

McGowan Infant

Graveside services were held on Wednesday afternoon at Grandview Cemetery in Sebring, for the infant son of Lawrence E. and June McMichael McGowan of Columbus, who was dead at birth Monday at St. Ann's Hospital in Columbus.

The Rev. Clarence Sekerak of the East Goshen Friends Church officiated at the service.

Besides his parents, he leaves a brother, Mickey; two sisters, Terry Lee and Patty Lynne, all at home; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McMichael of Valley Road; and paternal grandmother, Mrs. Ross Myers of Damascus Road.

command post set up at the crater near the Capitol said a third airman's body had been recovered.

The air base said four crewmen were aboard. One, 1st Lt. Thomas G. moak, parachuted into the residential area. He was taken to Arkansas Baptist Hospital, his condition serious.

Other crewmen were Capt. Herbert J. Aldridge, Lt. Col. Reynolds J. Watson and Staff Sgt. K. E. Brose. Home towns were not released.

The body of the civilian, Jimmie Grove, 26, was recovered from his home near the eight-foot deep crater dug by part of the plane. Nothing was left of Grove's house except the foundation.

Firemen said three homes near the Capitol were so badly seared by flames that they didn't see how anyone could survive. Rescue work was hampered by flames which took firemen several hours to control.

The Air Force had no word of a collision. Neither did the air control tower at Adams Field, Little Rock's municipal airport. The control tower reported the jet was the only plane it knew of in the vicinity.

blasts) than protracted discussions," the Soviet scientist said.

Fyodorov also said the Soviet Union had never set off an underground nuclear explosion.

Will Join In Moratorium

The two Western powers promise that with the signing of a treaty, they will join the Soviet Union in a temporary moratorium on small underground tests that cannot now be detected by monitoring instructions. During the moratorium, the three nations would join in a scientific search for ways to detect such explosions.

The first proposal for a partial test ban came from President Eisenhower on Feb. 11. Introduced as a "stop-the-fallout" program, it would have banned atomic and hydrogen explosions on the earth's surface, in the oceans, and in the atmosphere, along with all detectable underground tests. However, the Eisenhower plan did not apply to the smaller, undetectable underground tests.

The Soviet Union attacked this approach until March 19, when they reversed themselves and called for a partial ban with a four or five-year moratorium on the lesser explosions.

The U.S.-British formula differs from the Soviet proposal primarily in proposing the small-blast moratorium for only a "brief" unspecified period.

Granges

tours through the building are scheduled for the guests, with a dedication tea to be held in Fellowship Hall.

The evening services on Dedication Day will be the first services of a two-week evangelistic campaign to be held every night except Saturday. Mr. Marvin will lead the music with Mr. Mills in charge of preaching.

Services will be held at 8 each evening, with special music by the members of the congregation and neighboring churches.

Mr. Mills had served as dean of Lincoln Bible Institute for several years before becoming vice president. He is the church history professor and conducts daily classes at the school.

During the summer of 1956, Mr. Mills spent three months visiting the Bible lands, at which time he took many pictures. On several occasions during the evangelistic campaign, he will show pictures of his journey.

The public is invited to attend the dedication services as well as the evangelistic services.

Liverpool Area Towns Get Flood Warning

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP) —

Residents in Ohio valley communities near East Liverpool were warned today to prepare for a flood some time Friday, when the Ohio River is expected to crest 5 feet above flood stage.

The river was rising at two-tenths to three-tenths of a foot hourly. It was only a foot below its flood stage of 32 feet here at 8 a.m.

The new warning came in a preliminary crest forecast issued by the Federal-State Flood Forecasting Service of the U.S. Weather Bureau at Pittsburgh. It said a crest of 29.3 feet was expected on the Ohio River at Pittsburgh Friday morning. That compares with flood stage of 25 feet.

The crest moves down river at about 5 miles an hour.

Construction was halted by the Dravo Corp. on the $1-million-dollar super dam at Stratton, Ohio, 10 miles south of here. The company began gently flooding caissons to prevent collapse from water pressure later in the day.

At Warren, the waters of the Mahoning River were receding after going over the banks and flooding a few Warren streets. Unless there is heavy rain in the next 24 hours or so, the threat of major flooding is past, Army Engineers at Pittsburgh reported.

1960 Census Takers Begin Drive Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tonight is T-night, the kickoff of the 1960 census. If you're away from home overnight this is when you'll probably be counted.

"T" stands for transient and T-night means that guests in all the larger hotels and motels will be contacted and asked to fill out a special questionnaire.

The regular door-to-door census begins Friday morning. It will continue for several weeks and will employ 170,000 temporary workers.

Uncle Sam is spending about 118 million dollars to make the census. The result will be a statistical portrait of the nation that will help government agencies and private businesses make plans for the future.

The T-night operation will involve all guests of hotels and motels with 50 or more rooms and a minimum daily charge of $1.25 or more. There are about 10,000 of these and at least one census taker will be stationed at each.

If your room costs you less than $1.25 a night, the Census Bureau says you're in a flophouse and will be counted next month during a special canvas of tramps and hoboes.

Even if you're never contacted because you're away from home, you'll probably still be counted. One of the regular census questions, to be asked at every dwelling, involves members of the household who were away on April 1. All census information is reported as of April 1.

tions being church meetings, school classes and funerals of persons who have "died from causes other than violence."

The proclamation warns that force may be used if any gathering fails to disperse after three commands in a loud voice.

The armed forces were called out in the Cape Town area after 30,000 Negroes demonstrated there Thursday under the barrels of police guns. Police held their fire, and the demonstrators eventually dispersed quietly.

Fears of a similar demonstration in Johannesburg led to special precautions there also. It was believed the army convoy brought detachments of the white citizens' defense force alerted Thursday or regular troops to augment the police.

Rush To Buy Arms

Nervous whites among Johannesburg's one million population still rushed to buy arms and ammunition. A press survey reported 1,000 firearms sold in the center of the metropolis since last Saturday. Many stores were sold out of revolvers and automatic pistols.

In New York, the United Nations Security Council went into its second day of debate on the race conflict in South Africa.

Several delegates said they thought severe penalties could not gain approval of the 11-nation council, but that a strongly worded resolution calling on South Africa to soften her racial policy would be adopted.

The council was convened to deal with the situation arising from the killing of 72 Negroes by South African police during demonstrations last week against the identification passes all Negroes were required to carry. The government suspended the pass requirement but the Negroes now are demanding its abolition.

ALICE, Tex. (AP) — Donna

The new agreements provide improvements in wages, pensions and insurance in line with those granted in the refractories industry this year, it was explained. The settlement had been delayed several months due to the length of basic steel negotiations and subsequent refractories' industry negotiations.

The company was represented in these negotiations by B. C. Thompson and J. S. Hall of the

Eisenhower Wants Private 'Big Four' Summit Talks

Raps Crowded Confab of '55

Places Stress on Immediate Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower is looking forward to a different kind of summit conference at Paris next May.

He wants some sessions to provide for strictly private conversations among himself, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain, French President Charles de Gaulle and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The President's interest in getting the Big Four to "explore each other's minds" emerged at his immediate East-West problems and statements to reporters also developed another intriguing prospect for the future.

The Eisenhower administration seems destined to become increasingly in its closing months a kind of caretaker government. Eisenhower did not use any such term as that but in replying to a question about the possibility of a second summit conference late this year, he noted that more and more questions would arise about his ability to make commitments running beyond the end of his term next January.

At the same time, however, he left no doubt that if a crisis should arise he intends to take whatever measures are necessary to meet it.

But Eisenhower's own concept probably means that at the Paris conference he will be looking for ways to solve only the more immediate East-West problems and in such a way that there would be little doubt of his successor's interest in carrying on.

Whether from a practical point of view there are such possibilities, with respect to the long-deadlocked issues of German re-unification, the future of West Berlin and the major problems of disarmament, is a serious question which only the four men at the summit can answer.

It seems likely that another effect of the terminal date on the President's powers may be to inhibit the administration from embarking on any bold new course or trying any fundamentally new initiative in negotiations with the Soviet Union.

The last summit conference was held at Geneva in 1955. The meetings were larger than those the President would like to see at least on some occasion at Paris.

While the leaders of the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union met informally at Geneva and sometimes talked casually over a drink, their business discussions were all held in the presence of at least some of their advisers.

Eisenhower deplored this kind of arrangement Wednesday, saying that when the meetings are held in a room crowded with people the four leaders are "talking at everybody else, instead of talking to them... they are talking to their own constituents... doing as good a propaganda job as they can."

What he prefers is "four men sitting around the table with their interpreters and, without anybody having any checks of any kind, (trying to) see if they can, by exploring each other's minds (find out) 'What do you really want to do? What could we do?'

Authorities Turn Fire Hoses on Negroes In Texas

By The Associated Press
Powerful streams of water from fire hoses churned into a group of several hundred young Texas Negroes.

A thousand others chanting the Lord's Prayer paraded through the streets to Louisiana's 34-story state capitol at Baton Rouge for a protest assembly.

Those were major developments Wednesday in the unfolding campaign of the South's Negro youth to obtain service at lunch counters traditionally reserved for white patrons.

The fire hoses went into play at Marshall, a town of 30,000 in the East Texas oil and farming region, to break up an assemblage at the courthouse square protesting lunch counter incidents which had brought arrests.

The incidents started as Negroes tried for the third time in a week to patronize lunch counters. Police made 55 arrests for unlawful assembly, then took into custody 200 more who gathered at the courthouse singing the "Star Spangled Banner," "God Bless America" and similar songs.

The crowd reformed faster than it could be thinned by arrests, at one time pressing forward to the courthouse steps only to be warned by the district attorney. When officers started freeing those who had been taken into custody and they joined the crowd outside, firemen turned loose the hoses. Order was restored.

Shortly after the 1,000 students of Southern University, Negro state college and supporters staged their rally on the capitol grounds at Baton Rouge, the university announced the ousting of 18 from its rolls.

Dr. Martin L. Harvey, university action, said the disciplinary action was taken for "violating university regulations, relating to insubordination, and conduct unbecoming to Southern University students."

Charles W. Thompson will have double his salary in the five years since his appointment in an acting capacity. The City Commission Wednesday night approved a raise to $15,000 for him. Thompson's salary currently is $13,000. He will reach his new pay level in $500 monthly increments.

CONVICTED OF MURDER

URBANA, Ohio (AP) — A man who treated a woman friend's husband to a bottle of wine and six bottles of beer—all spiked with cyanide—has been convicted of first-degree murder.

James Garfield Buckney, 52, was adjudged guilty Wednesday of the poison slaying of James (Chico) Gomes, 36, a junkyard hand, last October. The jury recommended mercy, making a life sentence mandatory. Both men were from Urbana.

Erie-Lackawanna Merger Approved

NEW YORK (AP) — Merger of the Erie Railroad Co. and the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad Co. will create the 12th ranking line in total revenues among the nation's railroads.

An Interstate Commerce Commission examiner Wednesday recommended approval of the proposed merger. The ICC now will proceed to consider the examiner's recommendations.

The resulting company, to be known as the Erie-Lackawanna System, will cover 119 miles with about 7,500 miles of track. It will have 700 diesel locomotive units, 33,000 freight cars and 1,200 passenger cars. Assets will total 737 million dollars.

A spokesman for the Lackawanna Railroad said that under the merger an increase of 13% million dollars in annual net income is expected within five years.

The merger will involve considerable realignment of operations.

Passenger service between Jersey City-Hoboken, N. J., and Chicago will be by way of Scranton, Binghamton and Buffalo, N. Y., and Youngstown, Cleveland and Akron, Ohio. This is the present Lackawanna main route.

Freight trains will take advantage of the Erie Railroad's better grades and run from Jersey City to Port Jervis, Susquehanna and Buffalo, from where they will continue to Chicago on Lackawanna trackage.

Secondary routes will serve such points as Utica, Syracuse, Oswego and Rochester, N. Y., Kingston, Pa., Cleveland and Dayton, Ohio.

The combined railroads' executive headquarters will be moved from New York City to Cleveland.

Locomotive repairs will be handled at Scranton and Hornell, N. Y., Marion, Ohio and Hoboken.

Quaker Trackmen Will Open Outdoor Season On Tuesday

Face Wellsville
If Track Is O.K.
17 Varsity Returnees
Among Prospects

By DICK BRAUTIGAM

The Salem High track squad has taken advantage of a break in the weather this week to move their workouts outdoors.

Coach Karl Zellers' thinclads will meet Wellsville at Reilly Stadium Tuesday afternoon if the track is in condition. It will be the opening outdoor meet of the season for both of the Columbian County rivals.

Several of the Salem trackmen competed in the recent Tri-State Indoor Meet at Pittsburgh. Only pole vaulter Rick Sulea broke into the scoring column for the Quakers against rugged opposition from Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

SULEA, a junior, cleared 10 feet which put him in a five way tie for fifth place and brought the locals one-third of a point.

Charlie Horn, another Quaker pole vaulter, experienced a bad day in the Tri-State meet and dropped out at 9-6. Both Horn and Sulea cleared 11-6 last season.

Among the other prospects working out, Coach Zellers has 17 seniors and 13 reserve lettermen back from last year's squad. Gone are last season's leading scorer, Ralph Ehrhart, and Co-captains Ben Jones and Fred McNeal.

Ehrhart, who registered 80 points last year, is currently enrolled at Mt. Union College. He is ineligible for athletics at Mount until next fall because he transferred there from Toledo University after the season got underway.

JONES, THE SECOND leading scorer for the Quakers last year with 63 points, is attending Ohio State University where he is out for track. Jones also played freshman football at OSU last fall. He reportedly is one of three freshmen being considered as the varsity place kicking specialist next fall.

Jones says that if he makes the football team next fall he will concentrate on that sport. If he fails to make the team, he will devote his athletic talent to track.

Two promising newcomers to the Quaker squad this season are Leon Davidson and Ron Janovec. Both are seniors. Davidson, a transfer from Columbian, picked up points for the Clippers in the broad jump last year at the county meet.

At Greenford High School last year, the muscular Janovec put the shot 46-6 and ran the 100-yard dash in :10.8.

Other top candidates and their best records last year include the following:

Tim Burchfield, senior, 220-yard dash, :23.7 and 100-yard dash, :10.5

Dick Burt, senior, 440-yard dash, :56.0

Ned Chappell, senior, shot put, 44-11 and discus, 115 ft.

Dan Krichbaum, senior, 880-yard run, 2:05.

Bob Lambert senior discus 122 ft.

Jim Lehwald, senior, pole vault, 11 ft.

Gordy Scullion, senior, 440-yard dash, :56.5.

Jim Solmen, senior, mile, 4:34.

Ed Yates senior, high hurdles, :17.0 and low hurdles, :22.6.

Bob Zeppernick senior, discus, 130-11.

Tom Floyd, junior, 440-yard dash, :54.7 and 880-yard run, 2:12.

Dave Schuster, junior, mile 4:58 and 880-yard run, 2:16.

Jim Gibb, sophomore, low hurdles, :26.0 and high hurdles, :17.5.

John Hiner, sophomore, high hurdles, :17.0 and high jump, :5.6.

Tom Mercer, sophomore, 440-yard dash, :59.8.

John Paunier sophomore, 880-yard run, 2:24 and 440-yard dash, 1:02.

Don Vincent, sophomore, 440-yard dash, 1:00 and 880-yard run, 2:22.

Among other top candidates are juniors Herb Call in the hurdles, Gary Devan in the dashes, Jim Goodbait in the high jump, broad jump and hurdles, and Randy Strader in the 880-yard run; and sophomores Dave Edling and Bob Oswald in the dashes.

Coach Zellers is hopeful that some additional men out for the squad this season may boost them out to push the veterans.

After the Wellsville opener here on Tuesday the Quakers have dual meets lined up at home against Youngstown Ursuline on April 12; Louisville, April 14; Girard, April 19; Sandy Valley, April 22; and Ravenna, May 3.

The Quakers will take part in the Mentor Relays on May 7 and the Canton Twi-Light Meet on May 17. The Class AA District Meet is scheduled for Reilly Stadium on May 26. The State Meet at Columbus will be May 27, 28.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Honors to Jack Thobe, 6-foot-8 sophomore, and announcement of part of Xavier University's 1960-61 basketball schedule featured the school's annual basketball banquet Wednesday night.

Thobe, from nearby Ludlow, Ky., was named most valuable player on the Musketeer squad. He scored 468 points and had 260 rebounds the past season, setting a school scoring record for a sophomore.

Bill Kirvin of Schenectady, N.Y., another sophomore, received a trophy for best free-throw percentage—87.6 on 78 of 89. He was national champion in free throw percentage.

Coach Jim McCafferty announced a few of the games on next year's schedule: home and home contests with Miami of Ohio, Dayton, Marquette, Louisville, and Western Kentucky and single games with Cincinnati, St. Joseph (Pa.) and St. Bonaventure.

Nixon Asks for Ruling on Raise Lane Won't Honor Hike Given by Red Sox

LUCAS, THE NEWS SPORTS

THE SALEM, OHIO, NEWS

THURSDAY, MARCH 31, 1960

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Catcher Russ Nixon, back with the Cleveland Indians after a sojourn with the Boston Red Sox, has asked Commissioner Ford Frick for a ruling on the $4,000 raise given him by Boston's Bucky Harris.

Nixon wired Frick Wednesday.

The controversial windfall was added to his $11,000 Cleveland salary immediately after the White-Marshall Nixon trade between Harris and Tribe general manager Frank Lane.

With the trade voided due to Sammy White's announced retirement, Nixon was called back to Cleveland. Lane has said he will not honor the pay raise.

Nixon said he wired Frick just to determine his rights. "It doesn't seem fair to me that I don't get that extra money," he said.

In Wednesday's game against the Red Sox, a 5-2 Boston victory, Nixon was the only Tribe man to get an extrabase hit.

The Indians collected nine hits off hurlers Billy Monbouquette and Frank Sullivan—eight singles and Nixon's double.

Nixon also contributed a single to the Tribe's feeble attack, which produced only one earned run. A two-base error by Frank Malone provided a gift run.

Righthander Gary Bell, the losing hurler, blanked Boston until the fourth, when the Red Sox scored four runs.

Righthander Jim Perry, tall 23-year-old major league sophomore, gave a distinguished pitching performance the last five innings, allowing one unearned run on five hits. George Strickland made a two-base throwing error to permit the tally.

The Tribe faces San Francisco here today.

Perkins Gains TKO Over Chico Rollins

CHICAGO (AP)—Chico Rollins' effort to make an impressive showing in his national TV ring debut was marred Wednesday night by a gashed left eyebrow.

The New York lightweight was kept from answering the bell for the seventh round in Chicago Stadium because of the cut and Chicago's Eddie Perkins gained a technical knockout victory.

The eyebrow was cut in the fourth round and bled profusely.

Plans of the city of Canton to augment its water supply by 20 million gallons daily via a 16-mile pipeline from a new well field in Tuscarawas County will be reviewed by the Ohio Water Commission. No date for a hearing on the project has been set.

It went as a seventh round TKO for Perkins, boosting his record to 17-7. The defeat was Rollins' second in 12 starts.

CANTON SPORTS WRITER ILL

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Monte Cross, 73, a columnist on the Canton Repository and one of the nation's oldest active sports writers, was in Mercy Hospital, in fair condition, here Wednesday night.

Cross, a sports writer more than 50 years, became ill Wednesday while preparing copy for the Canton newspaper. He is bowing and outdoors columnist for the Repository.

Phillies' Manager Toying With Lonely End Offense

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—This is shakeup year for the Philadelphia Phillies. Manager Eddie Sawyer is toying with a lineup that would include only two of last year's regulars.

"We're going to go with the kids as much as possible," said Sawyer. "We got rid of a lot—Richie Ashburn, Willie Jones, Gene Freese, Ray Sempach, Chico Fernandez, Carl Sawatski. Most of the new players are kids, except for Alvin Dark. You need experience of the right kind in an infield."

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By RUFUS LIDE

A friend of mine from Pomeroy, Ohio, took a trip to one of the counties in the southern Ohio hills where pheasants were as common as hoot owls. This was his first pheasant hunt. During the day he saw upwards of 400 birds leaving one cornfield, flying and running to another corn field ahead of the hunters.

He couldn't believe his eyes and said "anybody who says there are that many pheasants in Ohio is a liar."

That was over 20 years ago when pheasants were in Wood, Hancock, and Liberty Counties by the thousands, and the farmers were pretty well disgusted with the damage they were doing to certain types of crops.

To get to the point: who would think you could drive for approximately three miles on Johnson Road north of Sebring and see so many pheasants that you count up to 200 and then quit, saying it is impossible to count them all? I was among the many spectators who did just that.

YOU COULD SEE pheasants under the gray stem dogwood, under the thorn apples or a clump of briars or any kind of a hedge row, searching for food.

Some one threw a few ears of corn here and there and the cobs were picked clean. It was easy to see they were eating any kind of winterberry or rose hip available.

Orioles' Bonus Baby Shows Batting Form

By The Associated Press

At age 18, Dave Nicholson pocketed $102,000 and the keys to a new car. Then he left his St. Louis home to play baseball for the Baltimore Orioles, he hoped.

That was in 1958, and the husky outfielder still hasn't won a job with Baltimore.

First it was Knoxville, then down to Class B Wilson, N.C., and finally to Dublin, Ga., of the Class D Georgia State League in 1958. He started 1959 at Double A Amarillo, but after 13 games he was hitting only .222 and it was on to Aberdeen of the Northern League where he finished out the season with a .288 average, 35 home runs and 114 runs batted in.

Now the 20-year-old right-handed power hitter is at Miami in training with the Orioles, and he seems to be closer than ever to Baltimore.

In an exhibition game against the Cincinnati Reds Wednesday, Nicholson homered, singled and had three runs batted in, although the Orioles lost 12-9.

In other Florida games, the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the New York Yankees 6-2 at St. Petersburg, the Los Angeles Dodgers whipped the Milwaukee Braves 7-2 at Vero Beach, the Chicago White Sox shaded the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3 at Sarasota, and the Washington Senators outlasted the Philadelphia Phillies 11-10 at Orlando. Kansas City and Detroit were not scheduled.

In Arizona, the Chicago Cubs defeated the San Francisco Giants 13-10 at Mesa, and the Boston Red Sox stopped the Cleveland Indians 5-2 at Tucson.

Another Team Enters E. Liverpool Tourney

EAST LIVERPOOL — A team from the Washington, Pa., area is the latest to enter the Junior Basketball Tournament of the Blue and White Nonpareil Club scheduled April 5, 6, 7 and 8 in Memorial Auditorium.

The 13th annual edition is for high school cagers and is probably the only tournament of its kind in this area. Players must be in grades 9 through 12 to participate. Earlier entries included a strong Travelers Hotel squad headed by Salem High's All-Ohio Guard Dave Hunter and Bryan Generalovich of Farrell, state champions of Pennsylvania.

The Nonpareil Club expects other entries to begin rolling in soon. The entry fee is $10 and the deadline for entering is midnight Saturday, April 2. A host of trophies will be awarded.

Giants Clouted 13-10 by Cubs

Sensational Chicago Rookie Gets 3 Hits

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — Again the Chicago Cubs come up with the rookie sensation of the Arizona spring baseball training camp — outfielder Lou Johnson.

He survived a beaning, a team bus accident and six seasons in the lower minor leagues to get his big chance and he's making the most of it.

Wednesday, as the Cubs clouted the San Francisco Giants 13-10, Johnson collected two singles and a home run in four times at bat, boosting his average to .355. He leads the club in runs-batted-in with 13 and in doubles with 5.

Last season George Altman drew the spring raves with the Cubs and went on to be a regular outfielder. This time it could be Johnson winning a starting spot in right field. Both George and Lou came to the Cub organization in a 1955 transaction with the Kansas City Monarchs Negro club.

In 1959, Johnson batted .316 with the Class A Lancaster, Pa., club of the Eastern League and finished the season with 30 games at San Antonio batting .327 in the AA Texas League.

That brought an invitation to the Cubs' instructional rookie camp here.

"I looked in the papers and saw all the outfields the Cubs had. So many in front of me and I was worried," the 25-year-old outfielder recalls. "But I decided I'd try to show them all I had."

Forty-two prospects reported to the rookie camp with Johnson and Sammy Drake the only two still with the parent club.

Johnson's first experience in organized baseball came in 1953 when the New York Yankees signed him and farmed him to the Olean, N.Y., club. His season ended abruptly when he was felled by a pitched ball.

The next year he played part of the season with a club in his home town of Lexington, Ky., and in 1955 saw service in the Pittsburgh chain. Released again, he went with the Monarchs and then to the Cubs.

With Ponca City in the Sooner League, a Class D outfit, Johnson's misfortune continued. Eight mongrels had chased a young spike buck on to a railroad trestle in Franklin Twp., and were chewing him up with both front legs broken when Deputy Sheriff Jim Miller routed the dogs and put the buck out of his misery.

Lou continued in Class D as late as 1958 when he batted .365 with Paris, Ill., of the Midwest League. But that season sent him on his way up baseball's ladder.

Salem Women's Tourney to Open

The Salem Women's Annual City Bowling Tournament opens Saturday at the K & J Lanes in Washingtonville with 72 teams, 78 doubles and 156 singles competing for a prize list of $1,100.

The tourney will run for four weekends. The first squad will start off at 6 p.m. Saturday.

Included in the association are members from Salem, Columbiana, Lisbon, East Palestine and Washingtonville. The tournament rotates each year among these towns.

Fisher's News of Salem is defending team champion. It is slated to roll in the tourney at 5 p.m. Sunday.

Medals are presented to handicap and actual winners. The sponsor of the winning team gets a trophy.

Rochester Blanked By Cleveland 2-0

By The Associated Press
Cleveland goalie Gil Mayer does not push the panic button in a Calder Hockey Cup playoff series.

The veteran goalie got his sixth Calder Cup shutout Wednesday night, blanking the Rochester Americans 2-0 to give his team a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven semi-final series. American Hockey League champion Springfield also took a 1-0 lead in its series with Providence, winning 3-1.

Mayer, who shut out the Amerks on their home ice twice during the regular season, made it No. 3 while turning aside 22 Rochester shots. Greig Hicks scored one goal for Cleveland and Bill Dineen the other.

Forty-two prospects reported to the rookie camp with Johnson and Sammy Drake the only two still with the parent club.

EAST LIVERPOOL — A team from the Washington, Pa., area is the latest to enter the Junior Basketball Tournament of the Blue and White Nonpareil Club scheduled April 5, 6, 7 and 8 in Memorial Auditorium.

The 13th annual edition is for high school cagers and is probably the only tournament of its kind in this area. Players must be in grades 9 through 12 to participate.

Earlier entries included a strong Travelers Hotel squad headed by Salem High's All-Ohio Guard Dave Hunter and Bryan Generalovich of Farrell, state champions of Pennsylvania.

The Nonpareil Club expects other entries to begin rolling in soon. The entry fee is $10 and the deadline for entering is midnight Saturday, April 2. A host of trophies will be awarded.

By RUFUS LIDE

A friend of mine from Pomeroy, Ohio, took a trip to one of the counties in the southern Ohio hills where pheasants were as common as hoot owls. This was his first pheasant hunt. During the day he saw upwards of 400 birds leaving one cornfield, flying and running to another corn field ahead of the hunters.

He couldn't believe his eyes and said "anybody who says there are that many pheasants in Ohio is a liar."

That was over 20 years ago when pheasants were in Wood, Hancock, and Liberty Counties by the thousands, and the farmers were pretty well disgusted with the damage they were doing to certain types of crops.

To get to the point: who would think you could drive for approximately three miles on Johnson Road north of Sebring and see so many pheasants that you count up to 200 and then quit, saying it is impossible to count them all? I was among the many spectators who did just that.

YOU COULD SEE pheasants under the gray stem dogwood, under the thorn apples or a clump of briars or any kind of a hedge row, searching for food.

Some one threw a few ears of corn here and there and the cobs were picked clean. It was easy to see they were eating any kind of winterberry or rose hip available.

At age 18, Dave Nicholson pocketed $102,000 and the keys to a new car. Then he left his St. Louis home to play baseball for the Baltimore Orioles, he hoped.

That was in 1958, and the husky outfielder still hasn't won a job with Baltimore.

First it was Knoxville, then down to Class B Wilson, N.C., and finally to Dublin, Ga., of the Class D Georgia State League in 1958. He started 1959 at Double A Amarillo, but after 13 games he was hitting only .222 and it was on to Aberdeen of the Northern League where he finished out the season with a .288 average, 35 home runs and 114 runs batted in.

Now the 20-year-old right-handed power hitter is at Miami in training with the Orioles, and he seems to be closer than ever to Baltimore.

In an exhibition game against the Cincinnati Reds Wednesday, Nicholson homered, singled and had three runs batted in, although the Orioles lost 12-9.

She Weeps for Science---

Tears, a woman's ultimate weapon, are being put into the service of science. Mary Drotos, a Cleveland student, is experimenting with them as a science fair project to prove they kill bacteria. But Mary's having a tough time producing the tears. She's tried standing in the wind, cutting up onion, thinking of sad stories and sniffing ammonia. When her own eyes are cried out, she turns to volunteer weepers. Results: some bacteria (could they be male?) are killed by the tears; others thrive.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Unwelcome Guest

Dear Ann Landers: I've been cheap. We're fighting over this and friendly with two girls ever since kindergarten. The three of us have always hung together. We are 14 now and getting interested in boys. This is the problem:

My girl friends have started something I don't like. When we go to a show on Saturday they seem a lot more interested in meeting strange fellows than watching the movie.

Last time they moved three different times to start up conversations. I moved once but wouldn't go with them after that. They say it's fun to talk to fellows from other high schools. I think it's the "triplets" and I hate to split up with them. I decided to write to you instead of talking to my mother. She's rather old (36). Thank you.—EMMA.

Dear Emma: When you outgrew your shoes you got rid of them, didn't you? Well the same thing has happened to your girl friends. You need a new pair.

Nice girls don't comb the theater audience in search for boys. It's a dangerous practice and could lead to serious trouble. Tell them you want no part of it.

'In The Service'

A-3rd Karen L. Adams

Dear Ann: A neighbor woman is making such a nuisance of herself that I don't know what to do.

Last night my husband and I had a few couples in. At about 9 p.m. "The Pest" appeared at the door and said her phone was out of order and could she use ours.

She was dressed as if she were going to a semi-formal. I said, "yes," and thought nothing of it.

In a few moments she wandered into the living room, sat down with the guests and entered into the conversation.

"The Pest" stayed right on as if she'd been invited. When it came time to serve refreshments she said, "My that smells good," so of course I had to invite her to stay.

I feel sorry for the woman because she's a widow but it's not my responsibility to provide her with social life. I bitterly resent her pushiness. She gossips quite a lot and likes to monopolize the conversation with her juicy bits.

I'm sure she had a very good time and I'm afraid she'll pull this again when she sees cars in our driveway. What can I do? INFURIATED.

Dear Infuriated: Your only defense against insensitive, aggressive people is to fight fire with fire. If she should pull this stunt again, wait near the phone and after she has finished, take her arm gently and walk with her out the front door.

Dear Quo Vadis? It's a little late to give you this advice but I hope you can use it for your 50th. Stagger hours on the invitations so that everyone doesn't come at once.

Beyond this, there's not much you can do to get people to leave a place when they are enjoying themselves—which after all, is what a party is for.

Dear Ann Landers: I've suspected this for a long time but now that I have evidence I can't put off this letter any longer.

My mother is making a play for my husband. I am 24, Jim is 29.

My mother was divorced 12 years ago and she's now 43. I admit she's beautiful, has a knockout figure, plenty of pep and can dance all night.

I have two small children and am pregnant again. In my present condition I'm no match for my mother. I began to get suspicious when I was in the hospital with my last baby.

She had Jim to dinner every night and suggested he take her to some night spots. He refused, saying he didn't feel like whooping it up when his wife was in the hospital. He told me this in all innocence.

Last night we had a party here and Mother was slightly loaded. I was on the back porch getting some ice when I saw Jim in the kitchen getting glasses. Mother came up behind him, put her arms around his waist and kissed him on the back of the neck. I heard him say, "You're drunk, Vara," and he led her into the room with the guests.

Please tell me what to do. I'm sick to my stomach. — BETH.

ing trouble. Thank you — INNOCENT VICTIMS.

Dear Innocent: I am very happy that you're not having trouble but if you ever do — please write and feel free to sign your correct names. When people ask me not to use their names, I always respect their wishes. You're welcome.

Sneezy

Dear Ann: This has bothered me for a long time. Everyone takes his problems to Ann Landers so I'm doing the same.

When a person feels a sneeze coming on he is supposed to try to hold it back or what? I can sometimes hold back a sneeze by rubbing the bridge of my nose. It doesn't always work and then I'm embarrassed.

Is it unhealthy to hold back a sneeze? Please wise me up.

KA CHOO.

Dear Ka Choo: It is not impossible to sneeze in company if you turn your head and cover your nose and mouth with a handkerchief.

Stifling a sneeze is not unhealthy but it's sometimes uncomfortable. If you can't get to the hankie fast enough, turn your head, excuse yourself—and get underway.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Peach Cottage Cheesecake

Makes 8 to 10 servings

Two packages peach-flavor gelatin, 1 cup boiling water, 3 egg yolks, well beaten; 1 cup cold milk, 3 cups sieved creamed cottage cheese, 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind,  $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon vanilla extract, 2 cups chocolate wafer crumbs,  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup margarine or butter, 3 egg whites,  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup granulated sugar,  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup heavy cream.

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Slowly stir into beaten egg yolks. Stir in milk, cottage cheese, lemon rind and extract. Refrigerate until thickened but not set.

Give Fillets Saucy Treatment

Give fish fillets saucy treatment! To the table Country Fillets go and lift them out of the humdrum be served with rice and mango chutney, and quite elegant enough sceme of meat.

One idea we adapted from a famous chicken dish, Country Captain. We cook chopped onion and green pepper in butter or olive oil and add canned tomatoes and salt and pepper; then long slow simmering to bring the combination to sauce consistency.

Meanwhile a touch of curry powder, thyme and crushed garlic go in to make intriguing seasonings.

Just before the sauce is poured over the hot cooked fillets several tablespoons of currants are added. The last touch is a topping of toasted almonds.

some to the sauce with a little lemon juice.

Sliced onions and mushrooms, cooked in butter, are another delightful addition to a cream sauce. So are other seafoods—shrimp, lobster and scallops—with a little sherry to make Newburg style.

Golden cheddar cheese enhances a cream sauce; so does grated Parmesan. If you choose the latter, pour the well-seasoned cream sauce over the fish and sprinkle liberally with the cheese and a dusting of paprika.

Place under the broiler to encrust with tempting flecks of brown.

HOW TO COOK the fish fillets to serve with the sauces? Broil, if you like, placing the pan fairly close to high heat. No need to turn the fish, but brush it with salad oil or spread with soft butter before it goes under the heat.

To steam the fillets an easy way, put them in a large skillet and just cover with seasoned boiling water.

Simmer over low heat just until opaque through; lift the fillets out of the water with a couple of slotted pancake turners, draining well before saucing.

Ever put walnuts (in the shell) in a corn popper and shake over coals in your fireplace? Wonderfully served warm, on a cold night! You can stretch beef or lamb stew with canned drained peas and small whole white onions.

Old Timers Recall Curios Once Collected by J. T. Vernon

By JAMES MURPHY

J. R. Vernon might well have been called the P. T. Barnum of Salem. Certainly his collection of antiques and oddities could rival some of the items in Barnum's famous New York museum.

For years Vernon had been collecting curios from all corners of the world, and when the Salem centennial came along in 1906, he was the logical person to head the relic committee. Under his guidance this committee formed a remarkable collection of articles related to the early history of Salem and Columbiana county.

THICK VOLUMES of early newspapers, photographs, pioneer furniture, and many other things were on display. The large collection was housed in the "Old Curiosity Hall" in the Speidel Block on State Street, as well as in the Ohio Mutual Insurance Company's office. Vernon was an officer of the company for many years.

Relics could also be seen in the log cabin on the site of the present Junior High School. This cabin was brought to Salem from Winona especially for the centennial celebration.

Vernon's exhibits were one of the

Rye Fennel Bread

Ingredients: 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1 cup sifted flour, 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder,  $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon baking soda, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup stone-ground whole rye flour,  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup sugar, 1 egg, 2 tablespoons dark molasses,  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup milk, 1 teaspoon fennel seeds.

Method: Turn on oven to slow (322 degrees). Butter a loaf pan (8 by 4 by 3 inches); put the 1 tablespoon butter in the pan in oven until melted and pan is extremely hot.

Sift the flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt into a medium sized mixing bowl stir in rye to combine yolk and white; add fennel.

Pour into sifted dry ingredients; stir until flour mixture is moistened; stir in hot melted butter from loaf pan.

Turn into hot prepared pan and bake in preheated slow oven 40 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. (Top will have crack.)

Loosen bread from sides of pan with a spatula; turn out on wire rack; turn right side up; cool.

Bread has coarse-grained crumbly texture, so it may be sliced  $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch thick after cooling or sliced thinner if wrapped tightly in transparent plastic wrapping and stored 24 hours.

Bunker Hill

Mrs. George Lungociu attended a luncheon Saturday of the Mothers Club of the Gamma Theta Chapter of Alpha Delta Pi Sorority in Alliance. ### Hungarian Torte

Ingredients: 1 can (8 ounces) shelled walnuts, 1 large sweet apple, 6 eggs (separated), 2-3 cup sugar,  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup coco, salt, whipped cream.

Method: Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

Grease. Put nuts through a rotary-type grater so all or at least half are fine.

Pare apple; shred on medium grater. In medium-sized mixing bowl beat egg whites until foamy; gradually beat in 1-3 cup sugar, continuing to beat if necessary until peaks stand straight.

Without washing beater, in large mixing bowl beat egg yolks slightly; at once but gradually, beat in remaining 1-3 cup sugar; add coco and a dash of salt and beat until combined.

Stir in walnuts and apple. Fold in egg whites. Turn into ungreased 8-inch spring-form pan.

Turn oven to 300 degrees; bake torte 45 minutes or until firm on top—cake tester inserted in center will not come out clean.

Turn off heat and leave torte in oven with door closed for 20 minutes. Remove from oven; loosen sides of pan. Serve hot or cold with whipped cream. Makes 10 servings.

NEW ROLE OF YOUNG EISENHOWERS REVEALED IN FW

John and Barbara Eisenhower, the President's son and daughter-in-law, have taken on new roles as Presidential "aides," according to White House intimates. Why has Ike come to depend on them more and more in recent months? How have they met the challenge? And how has it affected their personal lives?

For an intimate glimpse of the young Eisenhowers at home and in their roles of unofficial diplomats, don't miss the informative article, "The New Role of the Young Eisenhowers." You'll find it in Family Weekly, distributed with your Saturday Edition of the SALEM NEWS.
